

What could you do with the names of your potential managers in 25 companies?

by Connie Hampton ·

If you knew the names and contact information of your potential managers in 25 companies, what would you do?

Would you contact them? Send a resume? Email a cover letter? Invite them for coffee? See whom you know who also knows them? Or leave the list in your inbox and do nothing?

People are still people and job search is like dating. How do you approach an attractive partner?

What is your style? Is it working for you?

What do you need to do to get those 25 names?

Come to one of our open online complimentary office hours and see!